	The Health & Social Care Act 2012 set out the role and purpose of Local Healthwatch services in providing the public and patient voice in relation to health and social care services as commissioned and delivered by the NHS and local authorities. The commissioning of Local Healthwatch service is a statutory requirement for local authorities under the Act and covers the following key service elements: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Information, Advice and Signposting• Patient and Public Involvement• NHS Complaints Advocacy The existing contract for Healthwatch Walsall expires on the 31st March 2016 and the Council have undertaken a procurement exercise to award a new contract. It is important to note that the fundamental functions of a Local Healthwatch have not changed since the establishment of a Local Healthwatch service in 2013. The aim of local Healthwatch is to act as the consumer voice for health and social care. It aims to benefit patients, service users, carers and the public through promoting and supporting the involvement of people in the commissioning and provision of services. In so doing, it helps to make services more user-driven with improved outcomes. Healthwatch Walsall will be representative of Walsall’s diverse community, including the nine groups with characteristics protected under the Equality Act 2010. Through the requirements set out in the service specification and ongoing contract monitoring arrangements, the council will make provisions to ensure that these groups are represented equally by Healthwatch Walsall and that any additional provisions that may be required are put in place.

4	Evidence, engagement and consultation
4.1	Function three of the service specification makes provisions for “promoting the involvement of people in the commissioning and provision of local care services and how they are scrutinised.” To facilitate this, Healthwatch Walsall will operate an ‘enter and view’ policy which enables residents to visit the service with staff and observe for themselves first hand how it operates. Enter and view will ensure that all groups with characteristics protected under the equality act are engaged in the provision and scrutiny of local care services. By reflecting the demography of Walsall, enter and view will also work towards addressing any health inequalities that may impact upon the groups protected by the equality act in the borough.

4.2 Concise summary of evidence, engagement and consultation

Function five of the service specification states that “continuous dialogue with members and the local community” is a key aim of Healthwatch – this would ensure that all age groups are involved in the commissioning and provision of local services.

Healthwatch Walsall will develop and maintain a membership comprising of individuals and organisations as well as patients and communities including children and young people to join and take part in Healthwatch activities. This would ensure that all age groups, specifically young people, are engaged and given the opportunity to provide input on the commissioning and delivery of local health services and any health inequalities that may affect them. The two provisions detailed above would therefore, have positive equalities outcomes for this protected characteristic.

Healthwatch Walsall will need to demonstrate that it has clear systems and processes that ensure full engagement of the diverse community, including resident's gain access to Healthwatch Walsall through a range of avenues and opportunities, which would ensure that provisions are made for elderly residents who may require additional assistance to gain access to venues and provide input into Healthwatch Walsall. This would have a positive equalities impact on elderly residents who may require additional support, as it would allow them to engage with the service in a more robust and effective manner.
