Health Service Journal are pleased to bring you this important conference to assess the progress which has been made and examine what more can be done to drive the prevention agenda forward and effectively treat obesity.

Here are five great reasons to attend this important Health Service Journal conference:

1. Hear what more you can be doing to drive forward the prevention agenda in obesity
2. Drill down into specific areas of care and focus in on the complex needs of specific populations to improve the quality and effectiveness of care
3. Network with colleagues from across the country and hear about effective programmes and good-practice taking place in other localities. Gain top tips from your peers to take back and drive improvement in obesity services in your community
4. Put your questions to leading national experts, including:

Dr David Haslam, Clinical Director, National Obesity Forum

Dr Susan Jebb, Head of Nutrition and Health Research, MRC Human Nutrition Research

Dr Jean-Michel Borys, Co-Director, EPODE

Dr Paul Robinson, Consultant Psychiatrist, The Whittington Hospital NHS Trust

Mr Pratik Sufi, Consultant Upper Gastrointestinal and Laparoscopic Surgeon,

The Whittington Hospital NHS Trust

5. This conference day will be part of a not-to-be-missed, two day event, the Obesity and Diabetes Forum 2010, with the second day, on the 21st January 2010, focusing specifically on Effectively Managing Diabetes. For full programme details on this day click here. Delegates can attend both or one conference day, and multi-day booking discounts are available – book for one day and get the second day half price!

Book your place today, or call 0845 056 8299, to network with colleagues from across the country at this important conference. This is a must attend event for all professionals involved in obesity prevention and treatment, whether from a clinical or managerial background. Click here for full programme details.

I look forward to welcoming you and your colleagues in January.

Yours sincerely,

Richard Vize,
Editor, HSJ
