Early Help Strategy

Ward(s): All

Portfolios: Cllr. Stacie Elson. Children's

1. Aim

- To provide an update on the Department for Levelling Up, Housing and Communities Supporting Families programme 2022 and Beyond, the Walsall's Early Help Partnership and the Walsall's Early Help Strategy 2021- 2024.
- To provide an overview of the focus between now and March 2025.

Early Help aims to ensure that vulnerable families who need support get it, at the right time, in the right way and that we continue to deliver locally based support for families, led by key Early Help practitioners and local partners, who know their locality and more importantly the local families and are best to who work with children, families and carers to build on their strengths and tackle problems as soon as possible.

Early intervention with the right support should prevent the needs of vulnerable families from escalating and reduce the demand for statutory intervention.

2. Recommendations

1. For the direction of travel for the Early Help Partnership to be supported
2. For progress and achievements to be endorsed

3 Report detail – know

National framework: The Department for Levelling Up, Housing & Communities (DLUHC) national's framework sets out how all local strategic partnerships have to work as part of the Early Help System Supporting Families: Early Help System guide - GOV.UK \(www.gov.uk\).pdf).

This framework sets out the expectations around the network of services, processes and interactions that aim to help children, young people, and their families at the earliest opportunity.

Early Help System Guide: In March 2022 the DLUHC refreshed the guide outlining the national vision and descriptors for a mature Early Help System, the guide also provides a self-assessment tool to support discussion, reflections and action planning against key areas that influence the effectiveness of Early Help.

1. Families Voice & experience
2. Workforce
3. Leaders
4. Communities
5. Data

Early Help Strategy 2021-2024 an overview: since the launch of the Early Help Strategy in 2021 the partnership via the multi-agency steering group has focused on 4 overarching priorities:

- Priority One: Culture & Practice - Ensure our Early Help partnership and the way in which we work together is fully understood and that together we achieve better outcomes for families.
- Priority Two: Smart use of data – Share local data to understand the needs of our children, young people and their family.
- Priority Three: Resilient Communities: Use local resources in the most effective way.
- Priority Four: Voice: Children, Young People, Parents & Carers are heard.

The DLUHC Supporting Families programme 2022 and beyond: the Early Help Partnership is responsible for delivering the Supporting Families programme, launched in March 2021 and builds further on the previous Troubled Families programme which commenced in 2015.

The programme is aimed at providing targeted interventions for families with complex interconnected problems and is directly associated to the delivery of the partnership approach at level 3 within the continuum of need above.

The Supporting Families programme has 10 areas of priority need categories:

1. Education
2. Early Years
3. Health
4. Drugs & Alcohol
5. Family Relationships
6. Abuse & Exploitation
7. Crime Prevention and Tackling Crime
8. Domestic Abuse
9. Secure Housing
10. Financial Stability

3.1 What has been done?

Early Help System Guide: the local Strategic Early Help Partnership is expected to complete an annual maturity self-assessment indicating how mature the partnership feels it is against a set criterion of measures. To support the self-assessment this year Walsall Early Help Partnership joined Sandwell Council and Children's Trust to complete a peer review to help inform the self-assessment.

The feedback from Sandwell Council & Children's Trust delivered to the ADCS West Midlands Network was extremely positive, they felt Walsall had a mature system that is well established, they saw strong evidence that developments are having an impact where needed and that there is a commitment to continuous development. The overall score they gave to the partnership was 5 out of 5.

This provided the partnership with time to reflect on how far it had travelled over the past 3 years. The annual maturity self-assessment was completed, and the partnership gave itself an overall score of 4 out of 5, recognising that there is still work to be done and outcomes to be achieved.

The partnership recognised the strengths specifically around:

- Families voice and experience, having an established mechanisms to gather feedback from parents/carers, children and young people and that families could see the feedback was listened to and acted on, families also report that they were part of decision making and felt confident in sustaining the positive changes made, but also knew where to get help in the future should they need it, they felt more connected to their local community and what it offers.
- Workforce, partners see themselves as part of the Early Help system and report how this has strengthened over the past 12 months.
- Communities, the partnership includes and respects the voluntary and community sector and capacity in communities is building.
- Leaders, there is a strong well established Early Help Steering Group, a practice model across the system and partners work well together.

The partnership also recognised however there is more needed to do to ensure the mature model is reached, including:

- Leaders, work is needed to ensure the system is balanced and that support is provided to children, young people and their families at the earliest opportunity, avoiding unnecessary or costly statutory interventions, including level 3 Early Help
- Leaders & Data, work is needed to have an agreed shared set of measures at family, cohort, demand, and population level.
- Data, work is needed to ensure we have a regular set of data measures and feeds from all parts of the partnership to support whole family working.
- Data, case management systems allow partners to securely access all relevant records and whole family assessments.

Early Help Strategy: The strategy and associated action plans are ambitious, designed to transform the ways of working and the provision of early support to families in Walsall and in doing so, improve outcomes for vulnerable children, young people reducing the need for acute or specialist services. The partnership monitors the action plans and hold annual reviews of direction travelled.

The strategy is due for review; however, the focus is very dependent on key strategic changes to the national and local landscape for Early Help, including the

- Josh McAlister Independent review of children's social care: final report - GOV.UK \(www.gov.uk\) and the
- Children's social care stable homes built on love consultation \(publishing.service.gov.uk\).

Given the potential changing landscape the Early Help Partnership have suggested that a 12-month interim strategy is developed whilst we further understand the impact of change. The focus of which will be around:

- 1) Data – to ensure case management systems are accessible to all partners working with families and that all partnership data allows us to quantify all issues affecting the family and report on all issues and outcomes/impact in a quantifiable way.

- 2) Communities – to ensure we are building capacity in communities and harnessing the talents of parents, carers and young peoples lived experiences to help and support each other.
- 3) Workforce – we continue to invest in our wider workforce, embed our shared practice framework and improve practice through quality assurance methods.
- 4) Family Voice – to ensure families are better connected to their local community and have their own support network at a local level.
- 5) Leaders – to work specifically with secondary schools, to strengthen relationships, have an agreed quality of practice measure and that secondary schools become part of and represent the Early Help Partnership and system.

The DLUHC Supporting Families programme 2022 and beyond: launched the refreshed priorities and outcome framework in October 2022. The Early Help Partnership produced a practitioner’s priority and outcome framework guide and held 4 separate training and awareness days where in excess 400 partners attended, learnt about the new priorities, worked through case studies, and were provided an information package and relevant guidance, some partners also agreed to join a workgroup to take forward some practice review, including the need to refresh to early help assessment, plan and review.

3.2 Who is getting support through Early Help: Performance data as of 31st October 2023.

As you can see in the graph below the number of children and young people being support through Early Help (local authority and partnership) is increasing month on month.

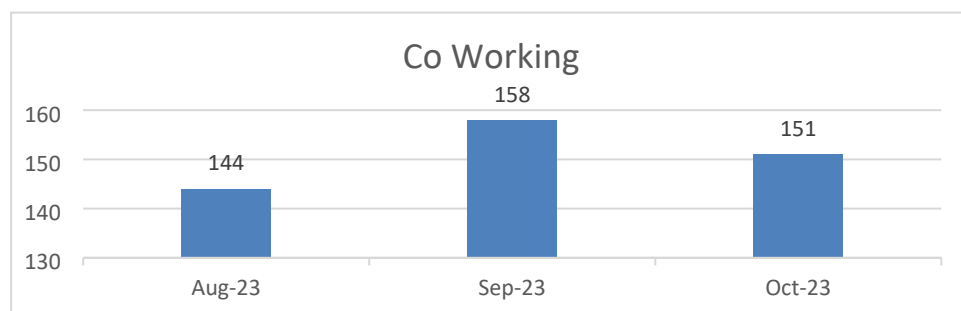

Whilst Childrens Services Early Help Family Practitioner remain the main lead professional it is reassuring to see that partners are increasing their roles and responsibilities as part of the Working Together to Safeguard Children (2018) statutory guidance.

The charts below show the demand at a locality level:

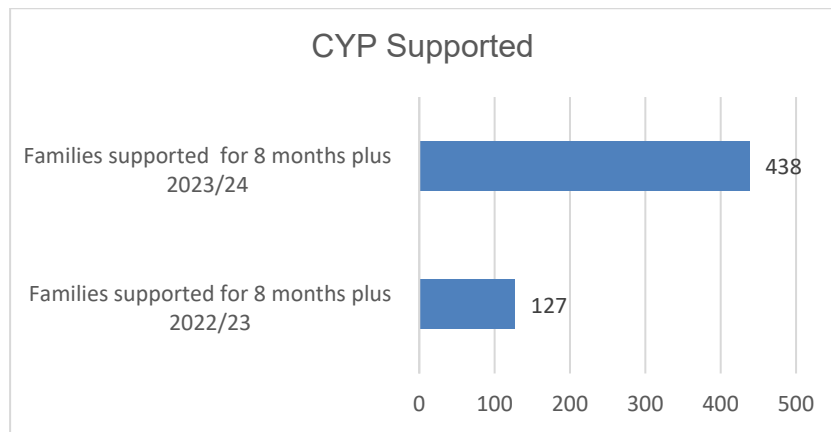

Early Help Family Support Practitioners in addition to their lead professional role also 'co-work' with other Lead Professional's or Social Workers where a child, young person and/or family require a specific intervention. The graph below shows the number over the past 3 months of children and young people being 'co-worked'.

The request for 'co-working' is currently being analysed to further understand the needs of families and barriers of partners unable to deliver the interventions directly.

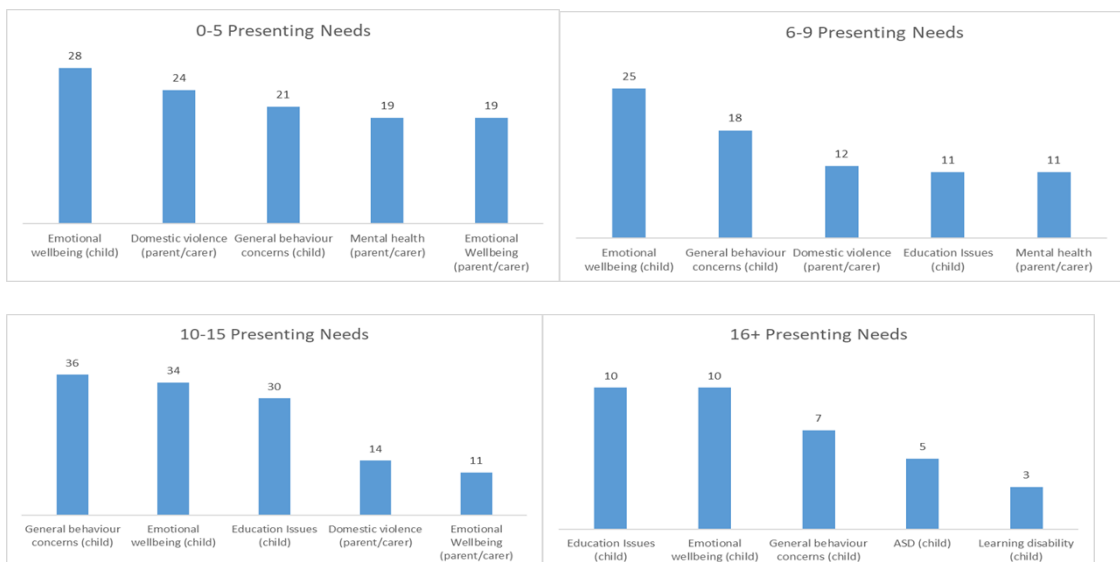

Since the introduction of the new Supporting People Outcome Framework which details the outcomes to be achieved for families, we are seeing a significant increase in the length of time families are being supported, we are also seeing an increasing complexity of needs for families.

Top 5 Presenting Needs October 2023	Top 5 Presenting Needs October 2022
1) Emotional wellbeing (child)	1) Emotional wellbeing (child)
2) General behaviour concerns (child)	2) Domestic abuse (parent/carer)
3) Education concerns (child)	3) Emotional wellbeing (parent/carer)
4) Domestic abuse (parent/carer)	4) General behaviour concerns (child)
5) Emotional wellbeing (parent/carer)	5) Education concerns (child)

Whilst the top 5 needs remain the same compared to October 2022, the order of the priority of needs have changed slightly.

To monitor the needs of children and young people the Early Help scorecard for 2023/24 now monitors the ages and needs of children, to enable the offer to be consider across the partnership:

The data information above and the Early Help scorecard provides a good overview of need, however, it is recognised that further work is required to help the partnership measure and understand needs across the system, outcomes, and impact. This is a priority for the next 12 months, and will be a focus within the refreshed interim strategy, the data and KPI's also forms part of the peer review currently being supported by Lincolnshire local authority, detailed below.

3.3 How well are we doing, how do we know?

Early Help Strategy: achievements to date have been significant, the work completed by the Early Help Partnership includes the development and implementation of new ways of working, additional support for families, based on family's feedback and continues to strengthen the partnership.

Please see appendix A for a full update on priorities, action to date, impact, and next actions.

Meeting the needs of children, young people, and families: Since the refresh and relaunch in November 2022 of the new priority needs and outcome framework the Early Help Partnership has seen a significant increase in both families being referred, the complexity of families requiring help and support along with the length of time families need support to make positive and sustainable change, however the partnership continues to strengthen and together it continues to be creative within the resources to pilot a range of interventions in order to meet the growing needs of children, young people, and their families. Over the past 12 months we have piloted several new approaches including:

Community Activities Reducing Exploitation (CARE) Pilot - in 2022/23 Early Help secured £965,744 a 12-month funding from the Department of Education (DfE) Better Integrated Care Fund, also known as the Respite Innovation Programme following a successful bid by the Early Help Partnership, with Walsall being 1 of 7 local authorities who successfully secured the grant.

The CARE project was designed around a specification to deliver an innovative short-break model for young people aged 10 plus in academic school year 6 and above with SEND (diagnosed or undiagnosed) who were showing early signs of potential vulnerabilities to exploitation but who were below Children's Social Care or EHCP threshold, whilst also supporting young people through difficult transition time from primary to secondary education, who at the time often lacked support due to no EHCP.

- This has been a successful pilot, supporting 69 young people who have participated in weekly and weekend term time youth clubs, provided by The Inspire Group and Street Team, who were bot commissioned to provide this service.
- the holiday food club activities (HAF)
- 1 to 1 mentoring support.

A summary of activities include:

A full evaluation report is available with an on-line summary report.

The pilot has been so successful the partnership has been able to continue to deliver the programme this financial year, with lessons learnt from the original pilot we have been able to reduce significantly the cost associated without reducing the support to the young people and their family, having incorporated it into the Early Help model of delivery. We are currently supporting and working with both Street Teams and Inspire to ensure the provision is available to young people in 2024/25.

Transition Pilot: In 2022/23 the partnership became concerned about the number of young people in year 7 who were at risk of being excluded from school and wanted to work together to see how, with early intervention this could be avoided. We all know the move from primary to secondary education can be stressful for any young person however for those young people with special educational needs or disabilities (SEND), those with social, emotional, or mental health difficulties it is especially difficult and causes additional worries and anxiety, we also know if the transition between primary school and secondary school is not well-managed, children end up feeling isolated and vulnerable. Their emotional health suffers and so does their academic performance, behaviours escalate and often these young people are at risk of being suspended or having a 'managed move'.

Therefore, we worked with 10 'feeder primary schools' and 2 secondary schools to develop a team around the child model of support.

A well-planned transition between primary and secondary phases will help remove any barriers to learning and enable young people to reach their full academic potential as well as feeling less isolated, transition is also not just a focus for the first term, the support should last well into year 8 and beyond.

The partnership in 2023 was recognised by the LGC and were successful in getting to the final of the LGC 2023 awards for the Children's Services category, whilst we did not win the feedback from the judges recognised the work the partnership have done, the feedback received:

“Competition this year was extremely tough, you should be proud that your council reached the list of finalists at the most prestigious award in local government, specifically in the Children’s Services category. The judges commented on the tenacity and sheer excellence demonstrated throughout the entire shortlist, subsequently, you should feel immensely proud. The partnership approach was strong and far reaching. Well Done !”.

The local authorities Early Help Family Support: Early Help service based within the locality Family Hubs are critical to the whole family delivery and have three main aims:

- Deliver - a core and pro-actively targeted Early Help offer.
- Influence – empower and enable partners / leveraging the power of universal services e.g., health visitors, school nurses and enable and empower families to self-help.
- Co- ordinate – harness the power of communities to develop a comprehensive offer around place

Support to staff: it is recognised that family practitioners are seeing their work load increase, as well as the need to support families for longer, to support their wellbeing and to ensure feedback is obtained by the teams an annual staff survey is completed which helps us to focus on actions required within the service, team plans and interventions for the year ahead, as well as supporting staff’s emotional health & wellbeing etc.

In 2022 Early Help staff set some key message/focus for us to:

- Strengthening the Partnership – this will improve significantly with the introduction of the Family Hub Model.
- Face to Face opportunities – so training being delivered, whole service away day planned January 2023.
- Early Help Process – new launch, stops duplication, gets help to families sooner and holds partners accountable.
- Supervisions – refreshed policy, working group and implementation plan.

We were able to go back this year and celebrate the achievements together to address their key messages/focus.

3.4 Continuous Learning Opportunities

As part of our commitment to continuous improvement and to challenge ourselves on the impact of Early Help, we have approached the Department for Levelling Up, Housing & Communities to seek further support from Lincolnshire, an outstanding local authority. This has been approved and we are currently working with Lincolnshire to complete another peer review, where an independent review of the Early Help offer, the strength of the partnership, the gaps and barriers can be identified to help us improve in specific areas.

The focus of support we have specifically requested is around:

- the development of the adolescent offer
- engagement with secondary school
- overall impact of Early Help
- the supporting family's payment by results claims

An initial meeting has been held with Lincolnshire and 5 future days have been agreed between now and the end of January 2024 to complete the peer review.

Early Help Partnership Practice Week: In February 2024 the partnership will be holding their first multi-agency practice month, this provides an opportunity for practitioners and managers to 'zoom in' and have a 'wide lens' view to observe practice, observe direct work with children, young people and their families, attend meetings, team meetings across the partnership and to get an understanding of how services run on a day to day basis, a real opportunity to spend time with all practitioners and teams within their respective service areas.

4 Financial information

The DLUHC Supporting Families programme is a payment by results with claims being sent by the local authority on a quarterly basis with the DLUHC having a risk-based approach to assurance checks, targeting tailored assurance visits.

For a successful claim to be made the local authority must evidence that all of the outcome framework measures have been met and sustained for a 6-month period after the family have ceased received the support, no further referrals to key services should have been made and specifically education attendance, attainment has to be evidenced. For each successful claim Supporting Families pay £800.

Walsall have predicted a claim ratio of

2023/24 85% (643 families)

2024/25 100% (936 families)

As discussed in this report, families are being supported for a longer period since the new priorities and outcome framework has been introduced, this is putting pressure on the number of families that can be claimed.

The Supporting Families grant £1.4m (which includes payment by results) funds a range of ongoing committed activities across Early Help and Children's Social Care.

5 Reducing Inequalities

Effective and timely Early Help that improves parental relationships, family function and learning behaviours in children can help prevent or reduce a range of issues that result in or exacerbate inequality including exclusion from school, parental conflict, youth offending, and children reaching a crisis requiring interventions by social workers.

6 Decide

The Early Help partnership within its review has set out the key priorities for 2022 to 2024 based on the needs of families and the changes to the Supporting Families framework. Whilst there is no decision for scrutiny to be made around the priorities, scrutiny is asked to support the direction of travel and endorse the achievements made so far.

7 Respond

The Early Help partnership is responding to the needs of local families and to the Governments Department for Levelling Up, Housing & Communities Supporting Families programme, the Early Help Steering group oversees the delivery of the strategy and has this as an agenda item for update reports to be taken quarterly.

Achieving and evidencing the outcomes secured for families and in turn meeting the payment by results target continues to be a significant focus and one that is critical to the Early Help service.

Preparing for the significant increase set by the department for the 'target' number of families successfully supported and have continued to sustain the outcomes for a 6-month period after the support has ceased is critical. With the overall target set for Walsall

- 2023/24 at 757 families
- 2024/25 at 936 families

For the first 2 quarters for 2023/24 we have been able to successfully claim total of 186 (98 in Quarter 1, 88 in Quarter 2) 25% of our overall target.

We are currently auditing approximately 200 in preparation for Quarter 3 claims.

A senior management performance group has been developed to have oversight of the claims, we have also employed a dedicated officer who 'audits' the closure process to ensure evidence of need, support and outcomes achieved are clear and measurable to support the claims and to ensure we meet the criteria set, a new 'end of intervention' process has also been introduced. This process is having a positive impact however claims are still down and there remains a financial risk given the length of time families are being supported by the Early Help Partnership.

As part of the PBR process we can include Children's Social Care, whilst this has been a smaller percentage that has been claimed previously the same process is being adopted as for Early Help, it is envisaged this will help to add further to the potential claims for quarter 3 and 4 for the current financial year and will be monitored monthly.

In addition, a new process has recently been introduced for the Young Care Assessments in preparation for 2024/25 claims.

Review

A review report to scrutiny can be scheduled for 12 months, detailing the achievements, barriers, the changes to the early help process and payment by results.
